

Published on 1 September 2010 by Thomas Caveng, Legal Translator / Marketing Director

t.caveng@soulier-avocats.com

Tel.: + 33 (0)4 72 82 20 80

Read this post online

Towards the end of the bee case

In a judgment dated September 2, 2010, the Investigating Chamber of the Toulouse Court of Appeals upheld the full dismissal rendered on January 30, 2009 by the investigating judge of Saint-Gaudens in the so-called “bee case” that involved the company BASF Agro and Regent TS, a seed-coating product accused by associations of bee keepers and the Confederation paysanne to be the cause for the increased death rate observed among the bee population in France. This decision is the outcome of seven years of litigation. Civil parties have lodged an appeal before the Cour de cassation (French Supreme Court). BASF Agro was defended by Jean-Luc Soulier.

Soulier Avocats is an independent full-service law firm that offers key players in the economic, industrial and financial world comprehensive legal services.

We advise and defend our French and foreign clients on any and all legal and tax issues that may arise in connection with their day-to-day operations, specific transactions and strategic decisions.

Our clients, whatever their size, nationality and business sector, benefit from customized services that are tailored to their specific needs.

For more information, please visit us at www.soulier-avocats.com.

This material has been prepared for informational purposes only and is not intended to be, and should not be construed as, legal advice. The addressee is solely liable for any use of the information contained herein.